

Sideline Saison is the first release of our Frequencies Series, a label concept created specifically for one-off bottle releases. The Sideline began over a year ago as a triticale saison using a combination of both aged and young santiam hops. After fermentation a barrel of strong saison aged with brettanomyces and other wild yeasts was blended in. The beer was then packaged and cellared extensively, allowing the flavors to develop unique esters with a grassy, white grape character, gentle acidity that highlights a mineral rich profile, and the core ingredients – triticale and an unusual combination of hop varieties and vintages.

Sideline Saison is a crisp, well cellared brew combining hop rooted earthiness with unique brettanomyces flavors
