Safe as Milk is a unique IPA made with comet, pekko, and two experimental hop varieties. The beer was openly fermented like our Supercool IPA, but with the CTBB yeast strain that originated at Orval, lending an appetizing spiciness to the profile over a forest-like hop character of pine, earth, and lemon. 6.2%

Demon's Lullaby is a red saison, perfect for folks who enjoy depth of flavor but in a dry beer. The grist is primarily composed of Mecca Grade malts with a touch of darker varieties for extra edge and color, and the earthy hops contrast well against the spicy fermentation based notes. 6.4%

Ives Blend Three combines six casks of our stock wild ale. A lengthy mash process draws out the barrel fermentation, making for a slowly developing beer that we matured over 15 months before final conditioning, another slow process that continues indefinitely in the kegs and bottles. This blend of Ives shows a nice balance of earthy and fruity character in the nose that ties well with its balanced acidity. An extra dry finish allows light oak and mineral notes to round out the tail end. 7%

Petite Pale was brewed in collaboration with Migration Brewing. We formulated a recipe using 100% Mecca Grade malt from central Oregon and a heavy hop load evenly split between saaz, hallertau blanc, and whole leaf mandarina. The beer has a wonderful balance and fullness despite the low alcohol content, with notes of sage, juniper, and other arid climate herbs contrasted against light lemon and orange flavors. 4%

Flora is based on our annual summer seasonal, the Flora Rustica. This simply named variant starts the same - as a classic saison made with Mecca Grade malt, fresh yarrow, and calendula flowers, but then ages for a year in two old pinot barrels and two carbonic chardonnay barrels. A truly mixed fermentation beer with several strains of yeasts and bacteria, the Flora manages elegance despite the combination of so many elements, speaking to an overall profile that we love here at Upright. 5.75%

Pub Ale is a departure from our typically quirky or adventurous one-offs, and simply named because it's a simple beer. Bringing together the flavors of a classic English brown with crystal, willamette, and a new, experimental hop, the Pub Ale hits all the right notes a seasoned beer enthusiast will enjoy - lightly malty, appetizing bitterness, and supreme sessionability thanks to a dry finish. 5.75%
